BLAIRMORE TUXIS JUNIORS ELIMINATED

Blairmore Tuxis Juniors were eliminated in the three-game series for the provincial junior baseball championships.

The first game at Macleod on Friday resulted 11 to 3 in Macleod's favor. The next game at Blairmore on Tuesday afternoon was four to none for Macleod and the third game was merely an exhibition game.

The first game at Blairmore at 2.30 p.m. displayed some excellent playing by both teams and the score does not in any way represent the brand of play staged. Mr. L. L. Morgan umpired satisfactorily.

The ninth annual exhibition of the Bellevue and District Horticultural and Industrial Club will take place in the big Bellevue arena on Monday, September the 6th. This year's display will far outclass any previous event, and the attendance promises to be a record. Ladies' rest rooms are being provided at the United church building. A full programme of field sports has been arranged.

Sought by the Alberta provincial police in connection with a series of thefts and burglaries between Calgary, Edmonton and Moose Jaw, a 17-year-old youth, of Calgary, was arrested at Cartwright, Manitoba, on Saturday and brought to Winnipeg. He is now lodged in the provincial jail there awaiting the arrival of a police officer from Alberta.

CHURCH—RAE

The marriage took place in Grace Presbyterian church, Calgary, at 7.30 p.m. on Friday, August the 20th, of Miss Mary Elizabeth Rae, former member of the Blairmore teaching staff and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Rae, of St. Albert, Nova Scotia, to Mr. Charles Church, of Blairmore. Only a few immediate relatives and friends were present.

Next morning the bride and groom left on a motor trip over the Banff-Windermere trail, passing east through Blairmore yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Church will reside at Blairmore.

Rev. Thos. Hart, B.Sc., of Bow Island, will occupy the pulpit at the United church on Sunday evening next.

Mr. Allan Hamilton, who for the past year has been a resident of Manitoba, is still holding down a position on the school board here that should be filled by a citizen of Blairmore.

While A. W. Bletcher was enjoying his sleep in the Cahoon hotel, at Cardston, the police at Lethbridge charged him with speeding. Bletcher proved that at the time he was charged with speeding in Lethbridge his car bearing the number stated by the police was stored in a Cardston garage and he himself was sleeping in a hotel there. The charge was dismissed.

DEATH OF MRS. DUNCAN McDONALD

The death of Mrs. Barbara McDonald, wife of Duncan McDonald, former inspector of mines, occurred at Drumheller, Wednesday, August 18th, 1926, after an illness of several months, aged 48 years. The funeral was held in Knox United church on Thursday afternoon, the services being conducted by the Rev. J. H. Spittal and the remains were taken to Lethbridge for burial. Deceased was a prominent member of Golden Rule, Babekigh Lodge, the officers of which took part in the funeral ceremonies. Besides her husband, she is survived by one married daughter, who resides in Seattle.

Following is a list of the floral contributions: L. O. O. F., Drumheller Lodge, A. F. & A. M., Symbol Lodge, A. F. & A. M., Ebeigh Chapter, The Family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hughes, Mr. T. Bradshaw and family, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Murphy, Ellis Evans, Tom Campbell, J. D. Evans, James Evans, Ed. Watts, Employees of Western Gem Mining Co., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crowder and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins, Three Hills.

The funeral arrangements were in charge of Humphries Funeral Home.—Drumheller Mail.

A newly married Blairmore chap entered the kitchen where his new bride was removing pies from the oven. One pie was about eighteen inches long and twelve inches wide, at least. "Peggy, dear, why on earth have you baked such a funny-shaped pie, and so long, too?" asked hubby. Peggy's reply was: "I could not buy any shorter rhubarb."

THE LATE DR. CLARK

Dr. Michael Clark, who died Thursday, July 29th, at his home in Red Deer, Alberta, was one of the ablest speakers and debaters ever heard in the Canadian house of commons.

An Englishman, he came to Canada some years ago, made his home in the west and rendered this country good service, both as a member of parliament and as a citizen. Those who heard his great speech when the conscription bill was before parliament will remember it was one of the finest speeches of that debate. No man in parliament was listened to with greater pleasure than "Red" Michael. A Liberal of the Gladstone school, he was a fine example of the English immigrants who are building up our Canadian west and upholding British traditions.—New Glasgow Free Lance.

FRISWOLD—KYLLO

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the manse, Macleod, on Thursday, August 12th, when Mr. Edward E. Friswold, of Pincher Creek district, and Mrs. Petrina Kyllö, of Burnin, were united in marriage. The Rev. A. C. Wishart was the officiating clergyman.

Mrs. Kyllö was a former resident of Blairmore, but of late has resided on the Gibeau ranch near Burnin.

LEARNING ABOUT ALBERTA

Request for full information concerning Alberta, with suitable illustrations, has been received by the provincial publicity bureau from the California council of education, which is revising its geographical textbook, and wishes to include a generous reference to Alberta. This is one of many indications received recently that greater attention is being paid to securing information about the Canadian west than ever before, by the people across the line.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. DeForest and two sons passed through Blairmore on Saturday afternoon last, enroute to Drumheller from Vancouver, where Mr. DeForest represented the Drumheller lodge at the annual convention of Elks.

Exercise Your Franchise

It is one of the peculiarities of the human race that they intensely desire that which they are prohibited from having but which, once they obtain it, they neglect and frequently lose all interest in. It is an inherited trait in the human make-up. According to the Bible story our first parents were given full ownership and use of everything in the Garden of Eden except one thing—they were forbidden to eat the fruit of one particular tree. And that was the one thing they longed for and felt they must have.

It has been found the world over that exacting prohibitory laws fall in their objects unless they are backed up with not merely a strong public opinion but practically an unanimous one. Legislative enactments without proper educational force culminating in public opinion generally prove a failure, because when people are told they cannot have or do any particular thing, that is exactly what they are determined to have or do. Apparently the best way to make children desire something is to tell them they cannot have it, and it is generally true that when they are given it they no longer want it.

This very human characteristic finds expression in politics as in other matters. From time immemorial men have agitated, struggled, fought and died to obtain the right of self-government. Men and nations have been prepared to sacrifice everything else to achieve personal and national liberty, the right to make and administer their own laws. Some of the most terrible wars have been fought over the one issue. The revolt of the American colonies and the War of Independence, the American Civil War, the French Revolution, the South African War, not to enumerate the many struggles recorded in all English histories, tell the story of man's fight for self-government. Early Canadian history, the old Family Compact, and the gradual development of responsible government, is a long continued story of the same struggle.

Now that the fight has been waged and victory achieved in nearly all civilized countries, and men are accorded the full privileges of citizenship, a free and secret ballot, and full power to choose those who will make and unmake laws and administer public affairs, what value does the average man place upon this great privilege and right? Women, too, agitated for the right to vote on terms of equality with men, and only at a comparatively recent date were accorded that right. What value do they now place upon it?

In the last Presidential election in the United States it was necessary for public-spirited men and women and great public bodies and organizations to engage in a nation-wide campaign to arouse the general public out of their indifference sufficiently to get them to the polls and record their votes. Yet these were the descendants, only a few generations removed, of the men who fought under Washington for the right of self-expression and self-government. And notwithstanding this aggressive campaign a large percentage of people did not take the trouble to vote.

The same apathy is in evidence in Great Britain, although not to the same extent. Nevertheless it is sufficiently noticeable to lead Sir Sidney Low in an article in the Weekly Dispatch to say: "They will fight, and even die, to secure the vote. They obtain their votes and neglect to use them. Deny them the franchise, and they have an intolerable sense of injury and are ready to embark on revolution or rebellion in order to redress the wrong. Yet the privilege extended by so many years of effort is treated with strange indifference when the fight is over and forgotten."

With a general election pending in Canada it became necessary to compile new and up-to-date lists of qualified voters, but it was also necessary in all our large centres of population to plead with and exhort and continually urge men and women to take the trouble to register in order that they might vote, and party workers had in numerous cases to practically drag people to the registration booth. And it has been the experience in every election that thousands of people have to be gone after and conveyed to the polls to vote. In Australia a law was recently enacted making failure to vote an offence punishable by fine, and South Africa, the scene of a bloody war to obtain the right to vote, is now contemplating passing a similar law.

On September 14 next the people of Canada are called to the polls to choose their representatives in the House of Commons and to determine who shall constitute the Government of Canada and what policies shall prevail in the enactment of future legislation and administration. It is the duty of every qualified voter, man and woman, to vote. No other business, no matter how important, can equal this in importance. It is not only Canada's business that is at stake, but your own personal business—those things which can only be done for you in a collective way, but your own business nevertheless.

Do not imagine it is any sacrifice on your part to devote a few minutes, or even hours, in discharging the obligations of your Canadian citizenship on one particular day in order to determine the character of Canada's Parliament for the next five years. Rather you will be making sacrifice of your own best interests if you fail to discharge your duty and exercise the greatest privilege of your citizenship, the permanent loss of which you would regard as a great grievance and outrage.

Willing To Help

Sends Churchill Cash to Help Pay British War Debt

A man, whose only identification is his statement that he was born in England, but has lived in the United States for the last twenty years, has sent Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer in England, bonds to the value of $6,850, to be applied to the reduction of the Anglo-American debt. "This is the third donation sent by the man in the last three years as a contribution toward the British war debt. Churchill was unable to write the man through lack of address, but publicly thanks him through the press.

Survives Desert Valley

Of the world's hottest places, Death Valley, Calif., is notable. The temperature ranged from 122 to 140 degrees during a test run made in a Franklin by a driver from Ocean Park, Calif. Sand was so deep at times that the car made only a few miles an hour, but in a run of nine hours and fifteen minutes 21 gallons of gasoline and a quart and a half of oil were used.

National Air Lines

Vast Network of Airways Planned For United States

A vast network of national air lines, covering the country, north, east, south and west, is the realization in sight of the United States department of commerce, according to announcement by Secretary Herbert Hoover, after a conference with President Coolidge. Two main arteries of the proposed system of aerial highways, stretching from New York to the Pacific coast and into the southwest from Chicago to Dallas and Fort Worth, were approved at the talk at the summer White House.

Autos Kill Many Birds

Motors Cut Wide Swath and Make No Distinctions

Illinois' state entomologist estimates that 100,000 birds are struck and killed yearly in that state alone by automobiles on concrete roads. At the same time on the same highways official figures show that more than 11,000 chickens were slaughtered last year, 12,500 rabbits, 20,000 geese, 1,200 parrots, 7,350 snakes, 2,000 toads, 2,750 cats and 550 polecats. The motor car's scythe of death cuts a wide swath and makes no distinctions.

LIFE WAS A BURDEN

Restored to Health Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

"It is a pleasure," says Mrs. Ross Boulter, of Victoria, P.E.I., "to tell you of the new health and strength I have gained through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Before taking the pills life was a burden to me. I was no longer an active woman. I was what you call a 'housewife.' I was tired, what to do. My blood seemed to have turned to water. I was very pale, constantly tired, and was losing flesh. It was a trial to attempt to do anything. Added to this I had a bad cough and my husband and friends thought I was going into consumption. The medical treatment I was taking did not appear to do me any good, and I had about given up hope when a friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got six boxes and found so much benefit that I got six more boxes. Before those were all taken I was a new woman restored again to good health. I gained in weight, my cough left me, my appetite returned and I once more had a good color. Better still, I was able to do my own work without fatigue. Needless to say I always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to ailing friends, and I hope this will be the means of pointing the road to good health to some other sufferer. Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anemia, rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness. Take them as directed. If you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and active. If you will send us your name and address a little book, 'Building Up the Blood,' will be mailed to you. This book contains many useful hints. You can get these pills through any medical dealer or by mail by sending a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Grievances of Railway Employees to Be Investigated

Official announcement is made by the department of labor of the appointment of a board of conciliation and investigation under the Industrial Disputes Act, to examine into differences between the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railway Companies and certain of their employees, owing to the refusal of the companies to accept a request for an increase in wages.

The board will be composed of Mr. Justice Hugh T. Kelly, Toronto, chairman, and Isaac Pitblado, K.C., Winnipeg, appointed on the recommendation of the employers; David Campbell, K.C., Winnipeg, who was recommended by the employees. Mr. Justice Kelly was appointed by the department in the absence of a joint recommendation from other board members.

The employees affected are members of the Order of Railway Conductors and Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Some 15,000 of these employees in all provinces in Canada are concerned.

Britain Going After Tourists

Decides to Make Greater Effort to Attract Them

While the French are showing resentment against the presence of American tourists in France, the English are making a big effort to attract more of them to England and hold them there a longer time.

A "Come to Britain" organization has been active for some time. This organization made public figures showing that Americans in 1924 spent $250,000,000 in France and only $100,000,000 in Britain, Italy and other countries together.

"I Americans only knew," said one Englishman "Britain would get a far greater proportion of the tourist trade. Many go to Wiesbaden and Aix without ever having heard of Harrogate or Llandrindod Wells, while Devon is not much more than a name to them."

Menace to Fishing Industry

Forest Fires Reduce Number of Fish in Inland Lakes

Canada has the finest inland fishing known today, but these splendid and game fish require plenty of clear, cold water in the streams in order to ensure prompt reproduction. Forest fires tend to destroy this possibility by causing drought, erosion and absence of shade. It therefore behooves every shepherd, says the natural resources intelligence service of the department of the interior, to make sure his fire is quenched after the noon lunch, and that it is always safest to do his smoking in the boat or canoe.

Easy Money For American Farmers

U. S. Government to Reduce Farm Loan Interest Rate

Farm relief in a practical form is about to be offered by the Washington administration. The United States Government interest rate on all agricultural loans is shortly to be reduced to five per cent, one-half per cent under the rate of interest. This action was forecast by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Winston, after a reduction to the five per cent, rate had been ordered for the Wichita, Kansas, farm loan bank.

Miller's Worm Powders were devised to relieve the sufferer from suffering from the ravages of worms. It is a simple preparation to destroy stomachic and intestinal worms with out shock or injury to the most sensitive system. They act thoroughly and painlessly, and though in some cases they may cause vomiting, that is an indication of their powerful action and not of any nauseating property.

Stop Dangerous Practice

President Coolidge Bans "Poisoning" of Industrial Alcohol in U. S.

Through his official spokesman that he is opposed to the "poisoning" of industrial alcohol, and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Winston has ordered the discontinuance of the use of poisonous formulae.

The president of the United States has received hundreds of protests against the practice on the ground that many deaths have resulted and that, with the widespread sale of alcoholic beverages and the large quantities of industrial alcohol which are diverted for beverage purposes, the poisoning of the product might conceivably affect a large section of the population.

Minimum Wage Law

Higher Minimum Wages to Be Paid to Women and Girls in Saskatchewan

Higher minimum wages for women and girls employed in Saskatchewan shops and stores, laundries and factories and mail order houses are contained in new orders issued by the Saskatchewan Minimum Wage Board to come into force Sept. 21.

The minimum for female employed in shops and stores is raised from $14 to $15 a week. Learners are to receive $10, $12, and $13.50 a week during the first, second and third periods of six months respectively. At present the rates are $7.50, $10 and $12.

A feature of the new regulations is that they provide that seats must be supplied in the proportion of at least one to every four employees engaged in shop or store work.

The minimum in laundries and factories is raised from $13 to $14, while the rates for learners are unchanged. For all time worked beyond 48 hours both experienced and inexperienced workers must be paid not less than the minimum rate.

In shops and stores and laundries and factories and mail order houses no deduction for statutory holidays is allowed to be made from the minimum wage.

The minimum wages for female employees in mail order houses is also raised from $13 to $14, while the rates for learners are set at $9 instead of $8 for the first six months and $11 instead of $10 for the second six months.

Relief from Asthma

Who can describe the complete relief from suffering which follows the use of J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy? Who can express the feeling of joy that comes when its soft and gentle formula relieves the tightened, choking air tubes? It has made asthma affliction a thing of the past for thousands. It never fails. Good druggists everywhere have sold it for years.

Conductor Retires After Long Service

Conductor Thomas Rutherford, of division 17, Bellefleur, Ont., has retired from the service of the Canadian National Railways, making his last run on his 67th birthday, after completing 44 years and four months of service. He entered the railway service as a signaller in 1892 at a wage of $1 per day. Since then at one time or another, he has had charge of every train running between Toronto and Montreal.

Economic Crisis in Russia

Retrenchment in All Government Institutions Is Ordered

Strict economy and renewed retrenchment in all government institutions and factories are urged by M. Rykoff, Stalin and Kibulchey, acting for the Communist party, in an appeal broadcast in Russia.

Declaring that the most extreme measures must be taken to strengthen the state's steadily weakening economic structure, the proclamation says that the Soviet Government will punish severely all who impede the present imperative economic campaign.

"The significance of the appeal is felt to lie in the fact that it was issued by the central committee of the Communist party, and not as one by the government. This is felt to indicate that the party, in this case at least, has risen superior to the government and intends to take Russia's dangerous economic crisis in its own hand."

To Conquer the Air

Will Be Accomplished When Aircraft Designers Solve Problem of Hovering

Hovering is the greatest problem that faces the designers of aircraft. For lessons in this art the designer would do well to study the buzzard, which can remain stationary in the air without any visible movement of the wings for a considerable time. When a strong gust of wind comes the outward halves of the wings are bent right back almost at right angles to the body halves of the wings. In this way it remains stationary facing a sea gale—a wind which blows most other birds backwards. It is seldom that the buzzard flaps its wings—and it never gives more than three successive flaps at a time while remaining stationary.

When man has learnt the secret of the flight of the buzzard he will have conquered the air.

Its Quality Sells It

The fact that so many thousands of intelligent people continue to use Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil speaks volumes for its healing efficiency. Ever since it was first introduced it has grown steadily in public favor, owing entirely to its manifold usefulness in relieving and healing ailments. As a specific for rheumatic pains its record is beyond reproach.

THE NEW PRIMER REMEDY, No. 1

W. N. U. 1643

NO PROSPECT OF SETTLEMENT OF MINERS' STRIKE

London.—When the representatives of the miners and coal owners met to continue the negotiations which it was hoped might bring a settlement to the long standing controversy, it was found that the parties to the dispute were as far from an agreement as in the early days of the struggle.

The owners are standing firmly by the eight-hour legislation, which the miners just as firmly are determined to resist. On their part the miners will agree only to reconsideration of the wages question after steps are taken to re-organise the industry.

What the next step may be is still unknown, but an announcement was made which indicates that Premier Baldwin had retired from any further personal effort to secure a settlement.

For some time the premier's supporters have been urging upon him the need of relaxation after the severe strain of the last parliamentary session, combined with his efforts in the coal strike, but Mr. Baldwin had postponed his holiday so that his might be on hand if wanted during recess. Now it is officially announced he has decided to start at the end of the week for Aix-les-Bains, and according to his present plans he will be away for three weeks.

Fear Large Gold Shipments

Britain Should Take Measures To Protect Exchange Say Bankers
New York.—The largest bullion movement to or from the United States this year was reported in a dispatch from San Francisco to Dow, Jones and Company, stating that approximately $10,000,000 in gold had arrived there from Australia for transfer to the account of the Bank of England at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

The bullion is reported to be mostly in British sovereigns and was consigned to the San Francisco mint. The only announcement as to the purpose made public is that the gold is "in settlement of international balances."

It is the opinion of many foreign exchange bankers that unless Britain takes special measures to support the exchange the autumn will see a flow of gold from London to New York as the season of the greatest pressure on sterling is just beginning. The shipments from Australia, therefore, may be to establish a reserve against this pressure.

The gold shipments are not, in the minds of these bankers, warranted by present exchange conditions.

Fire In Swedish Mine

Several of Largest Buildings Destroyed

Stockholm.—The world's most northerly mining centre, Kiruna, located far above the Arctic circle in Swedish Lapland, has been swept by fire. Several of the community's largest buildings were destroyed, one fireman killed, and $250,000 damage done.

Delay In The Mails

Letter Takes 35 Years to Travel 200 Miles

Toronto.—Thirty-five years ago a friend of Mrs. J. T. Marshall, wife of the pastor of a local Baptist church, wrote to her from Glen Rose, Lambton County, Ontario. The letter has just arrived here, having taken 35 years to travel less than 200 miles. Evidently it had rested in the dead letter office for the greater part of that time, stamped on the front of the envelope was the date "October 22, '91" and on the back "Toronto, Ont., Oct. 27, '91." Mrs. Marshall was attending the Toronto normal school at that time.

Conditions Quiet In Russia

Polish Minister to Moscow Says Country Is Orderly

Warsaw.—Complete order reigns in Soviet Russia, according to Mr. Kuntzinski, Polish minister to Moscow, who has arrived in Warsaw on leave of absence from his post. The minister says that stories about Communism, reported that all of the Russian all there were 33 passengers on injured were in a "critical condition, the plane. None of them escaped injury.

The primary cause of the disaster is assumed to have been engine trouble, for, upon seeking lower levels in the fog to find her bearings, the big machine swerved suddenly and dropped swiftly. It struck the top of a barn.

Sowing More Winter Wheat

U. S. Farmers Plan Larger Acreage For This Fall

Washington, D.C.—Farmers are intending to sow this fall an acreage of winter wheat 14.4 per cent. greater than sown last fall, which would mean a total acreage of 16,046,000 acres or about four per cent. more than sown by intention a year ago, the department of agriculture announced.

If average annual abandonment should mean this winter, wheat sown from the intended sowings about 32,274,000 acres for harvest next summer, an increase of 7 per cent.

Anti-Foreign Outbreaks

Company to Operate String of Stores From Coast to Coast

Toronto.—Twenty-two department stores of Canada with appraised assets of about $10,000,000 are included in a new company, Canadian Department Stores, Limited, which is being formed by the Municipal Bankers' Corporation of Toronto, according to The Toronto Telegram.

"Ultimate intention is to expand and change the chain until it reaches from coast to coast in Canada," Sir William Hoar is president of the bank. Sir John Willison is vice-president. "The Telegram states: 'This merger of interests is being effected in such a manner that there will not be any immediate loss of securities of any kind to the public of this country. Average number of years in business of shops taken over is 14 years. Two important business ones, one in Montreal and one in Hamilton, will be included in the list, but their names are not yet mentioned.'

Passenger Plane Wrecked

Flight From Paris to London Ends in Disaster

London.—Encountering a heavy fog along the English coast, a big French passenger plane, on a flight from Paris to London, met disaster near Folkestone.

Two of the passengers were killed, one of them reported to have been Robert Hainley, Boston, Mass., the other thought to be an Italian.

The Victoria Hospital at Folkestone, to which nine injured, six of them United States citizens, were transferred, reported that all of the 33 passengers on injured were in a "critical condition, the plane. None of them escaped injury.

The primary cause of the disaster is assumed to have been engine trouble, for, upon seeking lower levels in the fog to find her bearings, the big machine swerved suddenly and dropped swiftly. It struck the top of a barn.

FORM A BRITISH PEACE LEAGUE TO END ALL STRIKES

London.—A new organization called the Industrial Peace League of the British Empire has been founded. It is announced, to bring about industrial good fellowship between employers and workmen in Great Britain and eventually to establish a five-year truce between capital and labor.

In this way the promoters of the new organization hope to eliminate both strikes and lockouts.

The leading spirit on the labor side is J. Havelock Wilson, veteran president of the National Seamen's Union.

Frederick Lewis, banker and shipowner, is mentioned for the chairmanship, and Frank Hodgins, former secretary of the British Miners' Federation, for the post of secretary. Among the objects of the new organization are loyalty to Great Britain, the sanctity of contracts, the right to work and the stamping out of the doctrine of class war. It is considered unfortunate for the prospects of the new society that both Wilson and Hodgins are now discredited among the rank and file of British trade unionists, since both are regarded as standing too much to the right.

SAYS U. S. IS LEADING WORLD INTO A NEW ERA

Roosevelt Island, N.C.—Belief that the United States is leading the world into a new era and better way of life that ultimately will bring a great spiritual rebirth and thereby universal peace—for which all men in all countries are truly longing today—was expressed by Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the United States. He was the speaker at the anniversary of the birthday of Virgil, Dore, first white child born in the American colony.

"The new message that I think is of today is giving the world a new era and better way of life, more than mere goods and that peace and contentment are more than we have. America's great contribution to the world progress is its human policy in industry, and you have earned the gospel of high wages, as it has been called, and you have applied it and showed the world that it works," Sir Esme said. The material development of this country was set aside by Sir Esme as a "secondary matter."

France To Retrench

Will Cut Down Wheat Importations By 28,000,000 Bushels

Paris.—Cutting down wheat importations to the extent of 28,000,000 bushels this coming year is one of the economies the government announces as part of the nation's retrenchment programme. Dr. Andre Queuille, minister of agriculture, told the cabinet that by increasing the percentage of whole wheat in flour, the cost of the could be reduced by $6,000,000 this coming year. A further saving of 23,000,000 bushels could be effected by the obligatory use of ten per cent. of other cereals in bread making.

This is the first of a series of measures intended to reduce the French outlay for living to be placed before the cabinet. Other similar economies will be considered along this line.

Big Game Hunters Dine

Duke of York Among Number Who Met In London

London.—Thirty of the world's most famous big game hunters met in the Duke of York and the Earl of Londale among their number, dined together in London recently.

It was one of the rare gatherings of the Shikhar Club, an exclusive private club formed some years ago by Lord Londale. Membership of the club is confined to redoubtable hunters—men who have sought after big game beyond the edge of civilization. The King, who has shot more than a score of tigers, is the honorary president of the club.

Competitors Of League

Pacts Among European Countries Are Second Line of Defence

Williamsstown, Mass.—Negotial agreements being made between nations in Europe representing a continuation of the balance of power policy is tending to undermine the foundation of the League of Nations, according to the League of Nations.

He represented these agreements as competitors or "side shows" of the League of Nations. Referring to the agreement known as the "Little Entente" between Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania against Hungary, M. Poincaré said the latter country is a danger to the League of Nations, the first three countries, whose forces were individually superior to Hungary's, should form in alliance manifestly in opposition to Hungary.

Recent rapprochements among the central European countries indicate that the new alignments are not necessarily along belligerent lines, he said, but their establishment as a "second line of defence in case the league goes amiss," hardly indicates a bonafide trust in the efficacy of the league.

Says Flag Dispute Has Been Exaggerated

Matter Will Blow Over As Asserts South African Trade Commissioner

Winipeg.—"I personally have no fear of violent repercussions as a result of the flag controversy. It will all blow over in time," declared E. H. Low, trade commissioner in Canada and the United States for the government of the Union of South Africa. Interviewed here.

Mr. Low pointed out that Sir William Campbell, president of the South African section of the British Empire League, and Captain Jordan, president of the Cape Town section of the league, had openly, in the press, supported the government in its flag policy.

"This controversy," he said, "has been greatly exaggerated."

To Foster Balkan Peace

Pact Between Greece and Rumania Now In Prospect

It is expected another agreement between Greece and Turkey, settling important political and economic matters, will be signed soon.

The government has stated that military provisions may later be added to the Greco-Slav friendship treaty which has still to be ratified by the respective parliaments of the two countries.

TO ARRANGE FOR BIG WHEAT POOL MEETING SOON

Winipeg.—Representatives of the principal wheat growers' organizations of the United States and the Canadian wheat pool met in Winipeg as a provisional committee to arrange for the World Wheat Pool conference to be held here some time next winter.

Matters relating to data to be submitted to the delegates, proposed method of organization and other preliminary business was under consideration. It was pointed out that H. W. Wood, president of the Alberta Wheat Pool, was now in Australia, and that W. J. Jackson, director of the Saskatchewan pool, was proceeding to Buenos Aires, to arouse the wheat producers of these countries to the importance and value of the pools to the farmers.

The activities of the Canadian wheat pool were detailed and spokesmen predicted that the pools would handle about 80 per cent. of the prairie wheat crop this season.

SHOULD LEARN MORE ABOUT OUR OWN COUNTRY

Charlotteville, P.E.I.—"See Canada first" was the slogan resorted to by Canada by Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of railways in the Mackenzie King government, speaking here on the same platform with Hon. J. A. Robb, former minister of finance. Mr. Dunning argued that the widely scattered people of the Dominion should become more familiar with each other, and he believed that Canadians should travel through their own country before going to the United States or abroad. Speaking of Confederation, he said it was like marriage in the respect that it was unlikely to prove everything anticipated by those participating and that a great deal of compromise was necessary for harmony.

Hon. Mr. Robb discussed the last budget and expressed great confidence in the future of Canada and satisfaction in the record of the last government.

May Visit Alberta Ranch

Rumor That Prince Will Take Trip This Fall

London.—Plans are understood to be in progress for a visit to the Alberta ranch of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. Although no announcement has been made officially, the papers here all seem to take it for granted that His Royal Highness will make the trip.

The Prince's visit would coincide with the autumn roundup in Alberta and give him some excitement by way of a change from the burden of his official responsibilities. He has often expressed regret to his friends that he must satisfy himself with flying visits to what he often calls "his Canadian home."

Col. By Monument

Ottawa.—The corner stone for the monument to the memory of Col. By, founder of Bytown, which later became Ottawa, was unveiled here as the noon gun sounded from Parliament Hill. The monument will be just south of Connaught place, the central plaza of the city by the side of the Rideau canal, the construction of which he directed a century ago.

MIRRS RE REAL CANADA

Turning from the city newspapers to the small town press enterprises that come to our door, it is like stepping from the clouds, into the real, into an old fashioned garden where with ivy and thyme and the scent of perennial flowers. The pages of the big dailies are so full of murder, thievery, immorality and selfishness, that the better news is observed by these glancing glances of the deaconess. One puts the papers aside with a feeling of depression and hearsache that the world is so full of terrible and unhappy things. Then picking up the papers that record the happenings of the little cities around us, one gains renewed faith in life. Here are set forth only that which uplifts a community—the activities of the business men, the church news, the civic good accomplished by the women, school items, the happy social gatherings of the people, the marriages, births and deaths, farmers' items, and all the thousand and one daily occurrences that make up the simple annals of the great common people, who are really the foundation of this broad country of ours. Scandals are seldom published in the country newspapers, but if it so happens that decency demands it, the uglier details are omitted, or given a kindly touch that is widely different from the unfeeling publicity of the city press. The offenders may be our neighbors, or people we have rubbed elbows with all our lives. They are real human beings to their home town paper, while to the great city dailies they are merely grains of a sort that are ground out hourly in their news mill. Sometimes people speak lightly of the country newspaper, but it is one of the most potent and uplifting factors in our national existence. The great dailies have their mission, but their score is too big to touch very closely the inner things of life.—Ex.

SUGAR FROM FIR TREES
WORTH $60 A POUND

Although the existence of sugar-bearing trees in the heart of British Columbia has long been known to native Indians, it is only recently that Professor J. Davidson, of the British Columbia university, discovered these stores of sugar. Its trees are species of the Douglas Fir, and when bearing their sweet harvest resemble a tree decked with snow. At the tips of the spines of the fir tree the sugar forms in little drops but is deposited in large masses at the forks of branches.

Unfortunately, the sugar cannot be found in sufficient quantities to provide a new household commodity, but it is rich in a rare trisaccharide, of great value in the treatment of certain diseases. The trisaccharide is valued at about $60 a pound.

A few days ago we received the following query: "Dear editor, which is the most important, a man's wife or his trousers?"

We replied: "Well, there's lots of places a man can go without his wife."

"Tommy, run and tell Mrs. Jones at the door that I'm out."

"Hello, Mrs. Jones! Mother's out," shouted Tommy.

"Oh, that's too bad. I just came over to borrow some sugar."

"Mother! Tommy shouted up the stairs, 'did you mean that you were out of sugar?'"

FRINTER'S ERRORS

Conscious of unintended humor, on one of the latest and that is, perhaps, one of the charms of printers' errors. Th is familiar with the line type machine and the rapidity with which it assembles the letters are never surprised when a few of them get changed around or the wrong one crops in.

An exchange last week quoted a few that are classic. One instance was where the account of a wedding stated that the bridesmaids had worn "handsome breeches, the gift of the groom." That should have been brooches, of course. Another very frequent fault of the type setting machine is the changing around of a space and a first letter of a word, but along with such dire results as in the following comment on a political address: "Them asses believed him." An enthusiastic editor began his leading article on an election campaign with the phrase: "The battle is now opened." Unfortunately the compositor transformed "battle" into "bottle" and his readers also had suspected it all along.

But while we mention these mistakes of others we must admit that we have our own share of these comical errors. Only recently, an item said that a man had his arm "terribly lacerated on the sow of a wood-cutting outfit." It must have been a ferocious animal. And once, alas, we stated in a church report that the Women's Missionary Society had sent a "bale of goods" to China. That would hardly have helped along the work of the missionaries. And only a few weeks ago, we were making some of our prominent citizens about thirty years older than they really are.

But we still think that the worst error ever made by a newspaper was not the time when an auction sale and an account of a wedding got mixed up with dire results, but rather when a New York daily changed the headings of the shipping news and the obituaries so that the death notices appeared in the column headed: "Passed Through Hell Gate Yesterday."—Ex.

AS TO THE GUNMEN

A recent issue of the Peterborough Examiner contains the following editorial:

"The unchecked orgy of crime committed by gunmen, which prevails in most of the large cities of the United States, is certainly a staggering thing. The latest illustration contained in a despatch from Detroit is one of the worst. Two automobiles, with a number of men in them, drive up to the door of a Detroit restaurant, enter the place and open fire upon four men seated at one of the tables in the restaurant, killing two and severely wounding the other two, and also one of the waitresses in the restaurant. Then the murderers get back into their cars and move off and so far have not been apprehended. Such crimes as that would never be attempted if men who perpetrate them had any idea that they were likely to have to pay a fitting penalty for them; and the reason why such criminals do not expect to pay the penalty is undoubtedly the conditions of the United States' laws and courts. The laws and judges seem to permit of endless appeals from one court to another, and many of the judges themselves, being elective, are beyond doubt either inefficient or are subject to unworthy impressions and act upon them."

"Until the community arises to the necessity of selecting the judges and other executive officers concerned with the punishment of crime, by other than popular vote there will never be any solution of the special problems of crime that are confronting us."

If parents want a free and interesting entertainment some time, they should watch their boys in hiding practicing the use of pipes and cigarettes.

DOMINION EXPRESS AND ITS CHANGE OF NAME

After forty-four years of operation during which time it has grown from a small way to Canadian development, the Dominion Express Company will no longer be known by this name. After September first, the great transportation agency will be known as the Canadian Pacific Express Company. In all parts of Canada and the United States, a sign throughout the civilized world, a sign of the windows of the many hundreds of branch offices will be changed, and this will be followed by a closer link with the great parent company whose railroad, steamships and hotels are known around the world.

To mark the change of name, the company has issued an attractive little booklet, giving a short history of its career and a synopsis of its present wide-spread activities. The Dominion Express Company was incorporated in 1878, but it was in 1882 that Mr. Van Horne, then president of the C.P.R., took it over as an operating part of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. G. A. Kirkpatrick, later Sir George Kirkpatrick, Lt.-Gov. of Ontario, was its president, and Mr. W. S. Stout, a young but thoroughly-experienced express man, became its superintendent. Mr. Stout is today president and has for many years guided its fortunes in that capacity.

For some years he and his assistants had a hard and uphill fight. They not only moved traffic but helped create it by finding Canadian and foreign markets for Canadian products and by scientific rate-making encouraging the farmer, fruit grower and others whose markets were far away. The growth of the company over these many years is an interesting story and it is an important chapter in the commercial history of this country and its present position where it is daily entrusted with hundreds of millions of dollars in goods and treasure by the public, business institutions and the government is a matter for justifiable pride. This booklet is illustrated and is being widely distributed wherever the company operates.

The lawyer's small boy has just been brought to judgment for telling a lie. His sob's having died away, he sat for a time in silent thought.

"Pa," said he, "how long will it be before I stop gettin' licked for tellin' lies, an' begin to get paid for 'em like you do?"

Mrs. McSweeney: "I met Mrs. McDougal down the street and she told me that you told her the news I told you not to tell because Mrs. Brown made me promise not to tell it before she would tell it to me."

Mrs. Smith: "Why? Mrs. McDougal told me she wouldn't tell a soul that I had told her!"

Mrs. McSweeney: "Never mind. I told her that I wouldn't tell you that she told me that you told her."

A school teacher had been instructing her pupils in Greek mythology. The pupils read the tales aloud, and the next day had to recount them in their own language. One lad, to whom was given the task of telling the story of "The Gorgons," did so in these terms:

"The Gorgons were three sisters that lived in the islands of the Hesperides, somewhere in the Indian Ocean. They had long snakes for hair, tusks for teeth, and claws for nails, and they looked like women, only more horrible."

Here and There

"There is no chance of another general strike in Great Britain for a generation and perhaps longer," is the view of Victor Sahr, news editor of the Evening News, London, who spent a short vacation in Canada recently. He thought the miners' strike in Great Britain would not be settled before the fall and perhaps not until the winter.

The fishing season opens again August 15 on Lester Lake and Lake La Biche in Alberta. There are approximately 100,000 pounds of white fish to be shipped during the season from Lake La Biche and over half a million pounds from Lester Lake as well as a considerable quantity of jackfish and pickerel from both.

Canada's estimated wheat yield as indicated by crop conditions on June 30 is 348,928,000 bushels. The yield estimated for the Prairie Provinces according to the Bureau of Statistics report is 327,226,000 bushels and for the rest of the Dominion 21,480,000 bushels. Total estimated yield for oats is 108,540,000 bushels and for barley, 100,624,000 bushels. For rye the total estimated yield is 11,762,000 bushels and for flaxseed 8,419,000 bushels.

The Manitoba Government has commenced an agricultural survey of unoccupied lands in the province which when completed will provide the incoming settler with all available information on such lands. A total of 2,474 homesteads have been taken up in Western Canada this year. All post-war immigration records were broken recently when 1,681 immigrants passed through Winnipeg recently in 48 hours.

The Earl of Clarendon, British Under-Secretary for Dominion Affairs, and T. Macnaughton, chairman of the overseas committee, are making a tour of Canada to investigate conditions under which the 3,000-family scheme is being handled in this country. They are issuing glowing reports of what they have seen. The full three thousand families will have been brought over here by the end of next year.

Mr. T. Brewer has arranged to take over the Greenhill Grill on September 10th. For the past couple of years Mr. Brewer has operated with success the Tea Kettle Inn, next door west of The Enterprise and we bespeak for him similar or even greater success in the west end, where we understand he will carry on under the same style, "Tea Kettle Inn." Mr. Brewer has been obliged to make the change owing to increased business taxing his present quarters.

A local teacher, recently engaged by the Blairmore School Board, has been refused a provincial permit, while at the same time holding Nova Scotia first-class and British Columbia second-class qualifications. The provincial department of education at the same time can be accused of the indiscriminate granting of permits, since they did so in connection with Miss Lyndon, who taught here last year, but has had to go back to normal school now to qualify. To the ordinary observer it looks as though the department is using this method of fighting the Alberta Teachers' Alliance, which is not commendable.

The United church Sunday school picnic, which was held on the athletic grounds yesterday, proved a huge success. All the Sunday school children with their mothers and some fathers turned out and did justice to the good things that go to make up a successful picnic. The races, from the kiddies of the lowest class to the B.O.B.s, were keenly contested. The soft ball game between the dads and boys resulted in a win for the boys to the tune of 7 to 3. Supper was served to the starving mob in the arena, which was kindly loaned for the occasion. The day was fine and everybody reports having had a good time.

Tremendously rapid development of forest and water power resources of the Province of Quebec is indicated in the forecast of revenue totalling $4,000,000 from these sources for the current year. Last year the same resources produced a revenue of nearly $4,500,000.

Sixty men from the training camps in Brandon and Claydon, England, have been accepted by the Canadian Government and sailed on the "Empress of France" at the end of June. They proceeded to Winnipeg after landing at Quebec and will be placed on specially selected farms.

Saskatchewan exported last year 77.4 per cent. of its total production of creamery butter, according to a statement made by the Provincial Dairy Commissioner. The increase in production in 1925 over that of 1924 had amounted to 120.8 per cent., the output last year totalling 15,946,233 pounds.

Close on one hundred pilgrims from St. Paul and Minneapolis, passed through Montreal recently on their way to the famous shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, near Quebec. They were the advance guard of the great army of pilgrims that visit the shrine every year. While stopping off in Montreal they visited the St. Joseph Oratory in that city, also well-known as a shrine.

Hundreds of students and co-eds from Canadian and American universities have been passing through Montreal recently to board ships for Europe in connection with the Overseas Collegiate Tours that have grown increasingly popular of late years. Many of these collegians travel by Canadian Pacific boats, the "Empress of France" on a recent trip carrying over 250 of them.

Clad in gorgeous scarlet tunics, plentifully decorated with gold braid, forty members of the world-famous Goldstream Guards Band, of London, reached Quebec recently on the Canadian Pacific liner "Montcalm" on their third visit to Canada, having been here in 1904 and again in 1911. Under the command of Lieutenant R. C. Evans they will play at London, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, Vancouver and the Toronto Exhibition.

The electrification of the main line of the Imperial Japanese Government Railway system from Tokio to Shinanotsuki, 750 miles, has been long projected, and recently the 45-mile section between Tokio and Odawara has had experimental trains drawn by electric locomotives run twice a day between these points. Owing to the great expense involved it is feared it will be many years before the entire main line can be electrified.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL
WILL EVER WRITTEN

It was found in the pockets of an old ragged coat belonging to an insane patient of the Chicago poor-house. He had been a lawyer, and the will was written in a firm, clear hand on a few scraps of paper. So unusual was the will that it was read before the Chicago Bar Association, which ordered it probated, and it is now on the records of Cook County, Illinois.

"I, Charles Lounsberry, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do hereby make and publish this, my last will and testament, in order, as justly may be, to distribute my interest in the world among succeeding men.

"That part of my interest which is known in law and recognized in sheepbound volumes as my property being inconsiderable and non-account, I will make no disposition of in this, my will. My right to live, being but a life estate, is not at my disposal, but these things excepted, all else in the world I now proceed to devise and bequeath.

"Item. I give to all good fathers and mothers, in trust for their children, all good words of praise and encouragement, and all quaint pet names and endearments, and I charge said parents to use them justly, but generously, as the needs of their children shall require.

"Item. I leave to children inclusively, but only for the term of childhood, all and every flower of the fields and blossoms of the woods with the right to play among them freely, according to the customs of children, warning them at the same time against thistles and thorns. And, I devise to children the banks of the brooks and the golden sands beneath the waters thereof, and odors of the willows that dip therein and the white clouds that float high over the giant trees.

"And I leave to the children the long, long days to be merry in, in a thousand ways, and the night and the train of the Milky Way to wonder at, but subject nevertheless, to the rights hereinafter given to lovers.

"Item. I devise to boys, jointly, all the useful idle fields and commons where ball may be played, all pleasant waters where one may swim, all snowed hills where one may coast, and all streams and ponds where one may fish, or when grim winter comes, one may skate, to hold the same for the period of their boyhood. And all meadows, with the clover blossoms and butterflies thereon; the woods with their appurtenances, the squirrels and the birds; and the echoes and the streams' noises, and all the distant places which may be visited, together with the adventures there found. And I give to said boys each his own place at the fireside at night with all pictures that may be seen in the burning wood, to enjoy without let or hindrance or without any incumbrance of care.

"Item. To lovers I devise their imaginary world, with whatever they may need, as the stars in the sky, the red roses by the wall, the bloom of the hawthorn, the sweet strains of music, and aught else they may desire to figure to each other the distinctness and beauty of their love.

"Item. To young men, jointly, I devise and bequeath all boisterous, inspiring sport of rivalry, and I give to them the disdain of weakness and undaunted confidence in their own strength. Though they are rude, I leave to them the power to make lasting friendship and of possessing companions, and to them exclusively I give all merry songs and grave choruses to sing with lusty voices.

"Item. And to those who are no longer children or youth or lovers, I leave memory and bequest to them the columns of the poems of Burns and Shakespeare and of other poets, if there be others, to the end that they may live the old days over again, freely and fully, without tithes or diminution.

"Item. To our loved ones with whom I bequeath the happiness of an

SELLING POWER of the WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

(By Louis J. Ball)

There was a time, not so many years ago, when advertising, national and local, was more or less of a "hit-and-miss" proposition. Advertisers prepared their copy in a somewhat haphazard manner; the size of the space to be used was not based on any definite ideas; while the media to be used did not come in for much thought or analysis.

This situation has, however, all changed, and in every respect a vastly different system is in vogue. The descriptive matter which is to appear in the advertisements must be of a kind which will place before the public in the most striking and effective manner the merits of the article in question. The illustrations must be in keeping and harmonize with the descriptive matter.

The space to be used also receives considerable attention, for whereas small space may suffice for certain classes of goods, others demand much more extended treatment.

But it is in the selection of media that probably the greatest change has taken place. And it is undoubtedly a fact that this is the feature of advertising which at the present time is providing the greatest field for investigation among advertisers and advertising agencies.

A NATURAL DESIRE

The natural desire of advertisers, therefore, is to secure the most valuable and effective circulation among the most promising prospective buyers of the article to be advertised, and to secure this for the least outlay. And, therefore, several very important features enter into the question.

"Circulation" does not always mean just a specified number of names on a subscription list. Districts differ in their requirements; localities vary as to the class of people who reside and have their homes there; besides this, the spending possibilities of one section differ very materially from another, not, at times, very far distant.

Likewise the size of a circulation which is claimed by any publication is not always an index as to its publicity value. The nature thereof; the measure of popularity which the paper enjoys, and the degree of eagerness with which the arrival of a paper is regularly looked for; in general, the esteem in which a publication is held, constitute extremely important factors.

And this is wherein the value of a good home weekly paper lies. Such a paper containing, as it invariably does, a fairly complete review of the local doings of the place in which it is published, together with the happenings throughout the tributary district, is eagerly looked for. It is read, not by one member of the family only, but by all those who are able to read.

As practically every page of such a paper contains news of more or less local interest, these papers are pretty thoroughly scanned. Moreover, as the advertisements are mainly those of the men and firms with whom they transact business, these announcements are also freely read. And as the papers on the whole are not unduly large, the average weekly paper is pretty thoroughly gone through.

It may, therefore, be reasonably assumed that a subscription list of such a paper may safely be multiplied by three or four in order to arrive at the real "reader" value, and thus an actual circulation of 2000 really represents 6000 to 8000 readers, most of whom may be looked on as potential buyers.

Nearly all weekly papers are issued during the latter part of the week. Their circulations are largely among the people of rural communities where there is somewhat less distraction than is the case in the larger cities. Therefore, the home weekly is sure to be carefully and thoroughly read before being laid aside and no doubt even then it is frequently brought forth and consulted during the succeeding days.

Thus it may be readily seen that for such articles as may be considered suitable throughout rural communities and in the smaller towns, the weekly press offers an unequalled advertising service. The cost is less than that of any which even approximately approaches in value the service which is assured by a good home weekly paper.

TRUE FACTS ARE APPRECIATED

That these facts are being more and more appreciated and acknowledged from time to time is evidenced by the greater use which is being made of the weekly press for a large proportion of national advertising. It is naturally assumed that these papers, being of limited size, of genuine local importance, and going directly into the homes in a manner which no other class of literature can claim, any advertising, in addition to that of the local business men, which appears in such paper, is sure to be seen and read.

These facts, coupled with the excellent purchasing power of most of the rural districts of Canada at the present time, leave no doubt that during the coming years the weekly press of Canada will be utilized to an ever-increasing extent by Canadian manufacturers wishing to extend their business connection to all parts of this great Dominion.

The Enterprise is printing over 2500 papers each week, and enables you to reach the most of the people of the town and district in a thorough and economical manner.

This miner is evidently disturbed in spirit. On his cabin door he has posted the following:

Mennonites purchased the farm of J. C. Kiniry, near Glenwood, at a price of $60 per acre. Mr. Kiniry and family will likely reside at Pincher Creek, where their children are attending convent school.

Chicago will have the big Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight fight on September 11th. The "gate" is expected to be $2,000,000. Dempsey will get $400,000; Tunney, win or lose, $150,000. And sweet charity gets $100,000. Mr. Rickard, who has brains, gets the rest, minus expenses. One hundred thousand dollars for sweet charity is supposed to pacify fussy citizens who say that no prize fight should be allowed, even if it does yield $2,000,000.

A Superb Dive Against Superb Scenery

One of the most remarkable photographs ever taken in the Canadian Rockies, a work of art that blends in equal proportions beauty, strength, poise, in one unique effect against a background of noble mountain scenery, is shown here where Miss Lydia Fulcher, fancy diver, is portrayed high in air poised like a bird as though flying over Saddleback Mountain in the infinitesimal fraction of a second before she sinks—leave the waters of the pool.

The swimming pool where she is starting her great art is the newly constructed one of Lake Louise, about 90 feet long and 8 feet deep. There are springboards at different heights to suit the expert or amateur diver and the water is warm enough to attract those who are chary of attempting the cooler swimming in Lake Louise itself.

Miss Fulcher champion of the Calgary Swimming Club is a true mermaid of the Canadian West. She learned to swim in the Canadian Government's great pool, "The Cave and Basin," at Banff when she was a mere child. She became a champion last year at the Banff Winter Carnival when swimmers were diving into the Cave and Basin filled with hot sulphur water from Sulphur Mountain, when the temperature outside was hovering around the zero mark, while the water of the pool was well within summer temperatures.

Trail Riders Finish Romantic Journey

Trail Riders riding down to the Ptarmigan Valley. A "Trail Rider" with the party.

A cavalcade of 250 horsemen, the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, whose long rides and exploits over the twisted trails of "The Top of the World" have become classic, returned recently to Lake Louise from their annual ride, thus adding another romantic page to the history of this organization in the West.

Their return was strangely silent and different in fact than one might, without thinking, expect. No undue ceremonies or song terminated the mountain journey of these men and women from all parts of America and Europe, for being true nature lovers they had, in their communion with the silence of the mountains found the solace therein. The spirit of their order, was, they knew, "a reverence for the majesty and beauty of nature." Their homage had been paid and their journey ended. They would revel in the memory of it silently, for they had learned, as someone has put it, that "great joys like great griefs are silent."

But the spirits of the Riders on the trail at all times ran high. While camped on the flat heights of Ptarmigan Pass a rodeo was held with no end of local western color.

Harry Knight, Canadian bucking horse champion, Guy Weadick of Calgary Stampede fame, Bill Huggie, Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance, and many other well known figures in the west accomplished the Trail Riders. This rodeo was carried on at an altitude of 8,000 feet and brought about an important discovery amongst the scientists of the party. It was found that a horse that bucked four feet into the air at the Calgary Stampede was only capable of a two foot leap at this high altitude. Guy Weadick was in charge of this novel stampede above the clouds.

The great Pow-Wow which took place in the Ptarmigan Valley on August 14th, combined the Riders of two parties which had set out from Banff and Lake Louise with plans to meet at this point. The two parties met on the second day near Baker Lake. A picturesque scene they made with their bright scarves fluttering as the long line of horses cantered down the trails. Perhaps most picturesque of all the group of Philadelphia school girls in their breeches and cowboy hats, all expert riders and splendidly mounted. Each was eager to earn the the Trail Riders given to those who have ridden 500 miles in the saddle.

Artists, writers, scientists, explorers and others of international reputation made up the parties. In the ranks of these loyal devotees of the trail were men with such distinguished titles as Duke de Leuchtenberg, Count de Beauharnois, Count de Beauharnois, who governed Canada in the name of the French King Louis XV, between 1726 and 1747, is visiting for the first time the country in which his ancestor made history. He is taking part in the Grand Pow-Wow of the Canadian Trail Riders which is being held in Ptarmigan Valley, near Lake Louise, in the Canadian Rockies.

The English football team have finished their seven weeks' tour of the Dominion and they were greatly impressed with the generous hospitality tendered to them by the people in the cities they visited. Joe Smith, captain of the team, said: "Canadian football will, in a few years, in all probability be on a par with the brand of soccer played by the major leagues in Great Britain." According to him the object of the tour has been fully accomplished.

A total of $853,930 trout fry from the Banff hatchery have been placed in the St. Mary's and 200,000 in the St. Mary's Lake, during the past week. A further commitment is to be placed in the tributary waters of the Red Deer River.

Export of pill-bird oil to Europe will commence in bulk in September. Producers have contracted to ship 600 tons on each ship of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Co. for several months. The market is in Rotterdam. The company will have about two ships per month. Pill-bird oil is used in preparing foods and medicines.

Another step forward in the effort to restore to Montreal its leading position in the live stock industry was taken recently when members of the Eastern Cattle Market Exchange met to reorganize their operations on the basis of new changes made calculated to improve Montreal's standing in the industry.

Duke Dmitri, of Leuchtenberg, Count de Beauharnois, lineal descendant of Charles, Marquis de Beauharnois, who governed Canada in the name of the French King Louis XV, between 1726 and 1747, is visiting for the first time the country in which his ancestor made history. He is taking part in the Grand Pow-Wow of the Canadian Trail Riders which is being held in Ptarmigan Valley, near Lake Louise, in the Canadian Rockies.

Coming from all parts of Great Britain and Ireland, ten fine thoroughbreds were unloaded from the Canadian Pacific liner Metagama when it arrived in Montreal lately. They are for Mullan's breeding and training ranch near Winnipeg, and comprise one stallion, 16 mares and eight geldings. Nellie's Pet, 3-year-old, by Cygnus (Sire of winner of Scottish Derby last year) out of La Lisi; and Denton, two-year-old, who comes of the same breeding as Coronach, winner of this year's English Derby, were among the horses arriving.

Captain Kilroy Harris, lecturer and radio talker in the United States on Australia and New Zealand, recently passed through Montreal on his way to the west where he will take part in the Trail Riders in the Canadian Rockies. He is already possessor of a silver medal for having completed 100 miles of trail rides and hopes this time to earn the gold medal that testifies to the completion of 500 miles riding trails in that district. Captain Harris is gathering material from Canadian sources for his lectures and radio talks.

"Well, Sandy," said the laird, "you are getting very bent. Why don't you stand up straight like me, man?" "Eh, man, do ye see that field o' corn over there?"

"I do," returned the laird. "A' weel, ye'll notice that the full heads hang down, and the empty ones stand up!"

Two colored men were standing on the corner discussing family trees.

"Yes, suh, man," said Rastus, "I can trace mah relations back to a family tree."

"Chase 'em back to a family tree, huh?" said Mose.

"Naw, man, trace 'em—get 'em."

"Well, dey ain't but two kinds of things dat live in trees, birds and monkeys, and yo' sho' ain't got no feathers on you."

The teacher was trying to convey an idea of devotion to the members of her class. "Now suppose," she said, "a man working along the river suddenly fell in. He could not swim and would be in danger of drowning. Picture the scene—the man's sudden fall, the cry for help. His wife knows his peril, and hearing his summons rushes to the bank. Now, who can tell me why she does?"

Bright Youth: "Why, to draw the insurance money."

Reports from the Banff Springs Hotel and from agents along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Banff to the Pacific Coast, received at C.P.R. headquarters, state that the forest fires in the Kootenay Park region at their nearest point are eighty miles distant from the hotel, and that they are nowhere near any of the tracks of the railway. Guests at the hotel and travellers on the railroad have been in no way inconvenienced by the fires and these are now stated to be within a tight control. Banff Springs Hotel is at the present time bringing the busiest season in its history.

Here is a delightful one about one of those gentlemen who send invitations round to actresses they know.

One young gentleman recently asked a lady in a certain play to come and have supper with him. She replied that she would do so if he allowed her to bring four members of the chorus. Of course, he was charmed.

So straightaway he telephoned up his club and enlisted four gentlemen like himself. And the five of them engaged cars to take the ladies to supper. And when the lady who had accepted the invitation appeared at the stage door, she was accompanied by four gentlemen of the chorus! And the gay young gentlemen who had ordered supper had to foot the bill.

Founded 92 years ago in gardens on the site of which the Canadian Pacific Railway Windsor Street Station in Montreal now stands, the St. Jean Baptiste Society of that city celebrated that event on June 24th last by having a memorial tablet affixed to the walls of the station. The tablet was the gift of Victor Morin, former president-general of the society, who was present and unveiled it.

Negotiations have been completed for the erection, and work will shortly commence, upon a terminal warehouse and cold storage plant, to cost about five million dollars, and to be built in Montreal. It is stated that it will be constructed within ten months from the end of June, will be ten storeys in height and will have a total space of 600,000 square feet, of which one-third will be for cold storage. The plant will be built by the Montreal Rail and Harbor Terminals, Limited, and cost will be financed by Municipal Bankers' Corporation of Toronto.

The second greatest half-year in the history of the Canadian Pacific Railway has been completed with the month of July, the official financial statement for this period showing an increase in the gross earnings over the preceding six months of $10,071,996.56. The increase in the net profits for the same period amounted to $6,759,041, or an increase nearly double that of the previous half year in 1925.

Following a slight recession in April the production of automobiles in Canada continued its upward trend in May to reach a new high level of 24,934 units, valued at $15-761,615. This output compares with 21,502 units, worth $13,754,390 in the previous month. For the five months ending May the cumulative production was 103,127 units, valued at $62,685,158, as against 78,227 units valued at $49,497,938 in the corresponding period last year.

Canada leads the nations of the world in the proportion of years of prosperity to years of depression, says a report now in preparation by the National Bureau of Economic Research, Ltd., an American organization. Covering the period 1884-1924, Canada shows 136 years of prosperity per year of depression.
The United States comes next on the list with 179 years of prosperity per year of depression, covering the period 1890-1923.

Definite indications of the largest building year Canada has had in more than a decade are now shown by the record of the first six months of this year. The very large and unusual total of $194,543,500 worth of new construction for the first half of the current year and contemplated new work to the value of $304,598-500 forecasts great activity for the remaining months. During June contracts awarded totalled $54,186-400, an increase over June, 1925, of 63 per cent.

One of the greatest foundations upon which the Canadian national spirit rests was laid by the Canadian Pacific Railway was the conviction uttered by J. D. Cameron, of Glasgow, in an address before an audience at Pembroke recently. "Not merely did this railroad act," he said, "as a bond between all the provinces of the Confederation, but it was, by its conception and final construction, a greater force than anything else for the unification of the scattered provinces."

The sea-faring settlers of the Hebrides are not all fishermen as one might expect, but farmers in a way known in the rugged northern islands as crofters. Father R. A.
Macdonnell, the clergyman in charge of the immigration of these hardy folk to Western Canada, disclosed this interesting point recently en route to his headquarters at Red Deer, Alberta. Father Macdonnell has been in Canada about fifteen years and has been engaged in immigration work during that time.

The Earl of Clarendon is responsible for the statement that of the 25 families whom he personally interviewed, sent out to Canada under the Overseas Settlement League, he has not met with one malcontent.
He intimated that the settlers were unanimous in the opinion that Canada had been good to them. His Lordship, accompanied by the Countess of Clarendon, and their three children, Lord Hyde, Lady Joan Villers and Hon. Nicholas Villiers, is making a study of the immigration problem as he travels to Banff, Lake Louise, and other points west in the Dominion.

Pincher Creek Hike's Blendwell Orchestra will furnish music for a fitney dance to be staged on the Arena pavilion tomorrow night, commencing at 9 o'clock. This orchestra has played for a number of dances in this district lately and has become very popular. The same organization opened this season at the big Waterton Lakes' pavilion. The floor is now in first-class shape, having been thoroughly sandpapered and the surface treated so as to make it one of the finest in The Pass. A treat is in store, both as to music and floor, for those who attend.

Bass of the North Country

The moods and fighting qualities of the bass of the north country are fully explained in this article, written by Oark Ripley, the well-known authority on angling.

Somewhat or other, I am never impressed with the ubiquity of bass until I travel into the north parts. Mr. Micropterus, better known as the small mouth bass, often as red-eye, seems to thrive, somehow, wherever you place him. In the South he lives only in swift mountain streams, but in the North country his abiding places are in lakes, where he grows to be a big, lusty fellow broad, strong and willing to tackle any offering a sucker sends his way.

I thought for a time that the range of the small mouth, as far as the north country was concerned, was limited to Lake Penage, the Kawartha Lakes and even in Ontario, where he is especially large and a vicious fighter; but I found him up in the Laurentians, over to Maniwaki, also along that rail route which runs from Montreal to Mont Laurier in Quebec. This makes me think that, irrespective of the cold waters, this fighting chap will thrive anywhere you give him a chance.

There are parts of the north country where one will be puzzled a bit to find the bass, unless he strives to bring a rise in a proper manner. They will take the fly with greater avidity than a brook, rainbow or brown trout, but the offering has to be made to their liking or not at all. If bass in the north country like one thing better than all else it is a feathery fly. They love them; they attack them whatever the shape or color. But they have moods like other game fish, and many days no response of any kind comes. Even if you have made a long trip and have fished northern bass waters without immediate results there is no reason why you should be disappointed. They will do business when they are in the mood and at no other time.

I remember I once fished near Pine Rapids Camp in the French River District. For four days I did not get a single rise, though I felt they were most profitable bass waters as they had delivered the goods nicely during the previous season. All the time there had been a driving wind from the northeast. Suddenly it changed to a mild west one on the afternoon of the fifth day. All at once bass began to rise and I never saw them do it so fast nor in such numbers in all my life. They had found my lure and the weather to their liking and continued their striking mood for many days.

We make long journeys to the north country for bass and other game fish. It invariably pays to be provided with an assortment of lures. There are days when they will look at nothing but the underwater lures; then at what we might call the semi-underwater baits, and, last, as sure as fate, will come hours when only floating flies or casting baits will tempt them. The man who tries continually and is equipped with everything right, usually is the one who comes home with the record-breakers.

THE BEAUTY PARADE

Strong condemnation of the "beauty parade" that is taking place each evening this week at Sunnyside to select "Miss Toronto" for the carnival at Atlantic City is uttered by The Catholic Register in the last issue of the paper. In part, The Register says:

"Silly girls of sillier ambitions are by the score who will compete for the unenviable notoriety of representing Toronto in this so-called 'national beauty pageant.' The girl of the day who walks our streets in semi-nudity is a law unto herself. She is above the conventions of decency that bound her old-fashioned mother, and has become a puzzle to the judicious and the sane. But how respectable parents can conscientiously permit—nay, encourage—their daughters to forget their modesty for the prize of a little ephemeral praise, a little free newspaper advertising decorated with questionable pictures, is beyond our comprehension."

There is, something repugnant to most people's sense of decency in that parade as these. For a woman to "parade" her beauty is about as sensible as a Negro taking pride in his blackness. Neither did one thing to create that upshot which set such store. If the only charm that the entrants in the present contest at Sunnyside can boast of is that of face and figure, they had much better for their own future happiness and peace of mind stay at home and pray the prayer of the pagan philosopher: "Teach me to grow beautiful with-in."—Toronto Globe, August 10.

Police Sergt.—"Is the man dangerously wounded?"

SHOULD STANDARDIZE DRESS

The Cardston News offers a suggestion that is being backed up by a number of the leading citizens of that town and might well be practiced in other communities.

"The suggestion is that a standardized dress be adopted by the pupils of the public and high schools, the adoption of which would not only save much money, but would bring several other highly desired results to the community. First it would blot out snobbery and eliminate the feeling of jealousy and vain pride among the students of the school. Secondly, it would take the minds of the children away from the foolish competition in keeping up with style and outdoing each other in dress and allow them to place their attention on their work at school, for even a casual observer knows there is grave need of more attention to work in school. Thirdly, it would eliminate that class feeling, the division of the student body into classes almost as rigid as the Hindoo caste system which in Cardston is largely based on dress approval."

"This suggestion is not a new one at all. The biggest schools in the United States are adopting it. Berkeley University has a standard dress for its thousands of students. The boys dress in corduroys and khaki shirts. The girls have a simple uniform, varied in color and style to allow individuality, but a maximum price as to cost to set which prevents the well-to-do from lordling it over their less fortunate class mates. What is advocated here is not a radical movement nor a new one. It has the approval of the sanest men in America and would work wonders in the discipline and conduct of our schools."

A deaf woman entered a church with an ear trumpet. Soon after she had seated herself, an usher tiptoed over and whispered: "One toot and out you go."

The teacher had labored long and patiently to teach little Arthur the points of the compass.

"When you stand with your face to the north, your right hand is towards the east, your left towards the west, and your back towards the south, now tell me the directions. What is in front of you?"

After a thoughtful pause, little Arthur replied: "My stomach."

Still, fight with herself as much as she might, nothing seemed to matter so much as John. She had intended to spend the rest of the night packing her new things and her old, for she had no idea of sleep. There'd be lots of time for sleep when she was thoroughly convinced she wasn't asleep and dreaming anyway. She had wanted just to pack and talk to George through the night and shape vague things that she planned to do for her into a definite program. This last idea George dismissed at once with a practical, "Wait until you know where you're at. I'll take my fun reporting about you to old Good Morning. I always did want to find that bird. Now that you're gone, maybe I'll get a chance." Joanna agreed that this wouldn't be a bad idea, and George concluded, "Then when I've got him watch me dither and cross him! That is, maybe I will and maybe I won't. Who knows? He's not such a bad bird at that!"

Joanna was not in the mood to discuss Mr. Good Morning; even Kenilworth, who had ordered her to call him "Rody," was too early, or too young, whose career from Cairo to London, and America was as well known to George as any other avid reader of the Sunday press, or Brad Don's insistent and sinister probing of her. Instead, she cross-examined George patiently about John.

With little success. George was detached, her roving eyes engaging her attention with ever new episodes creeping up in the sheen or the trim of the drapes or one of the things hanging about the room. "He said he wanted to see you and square the deal, and that he'd hunt you up tomorrow," was all that George would vouchsafe.

With the morning Joanna had decided. She went to John, a brief little note that set her an hour. She wanted him—as always and as usual. Everything was all right. They wouldn't talk about that night when he accused her. But he must come to her—out Yvonne's! This she dictated to John's workroom in the office of the firm where he was working up to his career, she went to the bank.

The uniformed doorman remembered her. In his manner there was none of the subservience which he would have met any other of the bank's customers, even the most important, at the announcement that it was the Chairman of the Board himself whom the caller wished to see. He led Joanna directly through the dimly lit corridors, past the railings shading in vice-presidents, cashier and other important functionaries, from whom the girl caught glances of interest. It seemed as if the entire institution was alert to her. Again she saw a great gentleness beneath the grave, austere exterior of this man whose harshness was a tradition that even shop girls knew. In his presence she trembled at her own audacity in coming to speak to him of her little matters.

"But you may always come to me at any time," the banker assured her patiently.

"I have made up my mind what to do," she told him when she had sought some other opening and failed to find it. "It isn't very much, but that I have found a great friend who will show me how—I mean who will help me."

"You have the most disconcerting way of not finishing what you start to say," Eggleston protested. He spoke shortly, with none of the softness in his voice that had been there a moment before. Joanna realized that she could practice no cynicism with the great man.

"I think I mean to say someone who will show me how to enjoy my money," she said unashamedly. "You see, you nor Mr. Graydon nor Mr. Brandon will give me any advice. I don't know what to do. I feel there is so much I could do and should do. I tried to win a prize one time by thinking what I'd do if I had a thousand dollars. I knew all sort of things. I think I built hospitals and started schools for girls to learn how to be Mary Pickers, and even then I didn't win the prize. Now that I've all that you say is in the bank for me I can't really think of a thing. I guess I want a little fun too badly. So I'm going to learn from one who knows."

Brandon drew her to him, until she stood quite close. It was the prelude to a kiss.

"Just a little fun, as you call it. But you can't buy a lot of pleasure with the money you have. Won't it pay on you after a while?"

"Perhaps. I don't know. I'm a little bit afraid I don't know much of anything, you see. So I want to learn. It's a sort of respect, you know, somebody has put onto my shoulders, isn't it?"

For a time he didn't answer. When he did he asked her abruptly, "Who is your confidante going to be?"

"I don't suppose you know her. Miss Constant, Yvonne Constant. She's very famous, you know, and has heaps of money of her own. Men are always in love with her. She's thrilling."

Again he was silent, and then Joanna thought there was something cold in his voice. "Yes, I know of her. I fancy almost everyone does. Let's see—is she divorced now or married?"

"Divorced. But that doesn't make any difference, does it?"

"Not the slightest." He spoke briefly. She was sure now that he had gone cold. She decided not to dwell after all upon her plans. She spoke of John.

"Your friend and mine, Graydon, was deeply concerned by your report of the young man's understanding. He gave me to believe also that you were disturbed by that circumstance. As your banker I took it upon myself to protect your interests—even if those interests were at the moment of more young man. If I offended I'm sorry. You are a valuable patron of the bank. I would not offend you."

"But I wanted to tell you how happy it made me!" Joanna exclaimed. The sudden change in him distressed her. He had gone far away from her, and she had always sensed him as very close, very close to her in some unfathomable way. "I would not take the money—none of it if it should cost me the thing I want John to think of me!"

only not to see. His hardness varied from his face and his eyes as gently as the passing of a shadow. His fingers reached out for the jade paper-cigar and toyed with it, as she had observed him do during her first visit to him. When he spoke again it was as if she were not there, as if he spoke to a memory. "Yes, there are times when money doesn't count. No less as you know this everything's all right."

Joanna nodded to him quietly, silently. At that moment she understood that something had gone from one to the other of them. But she couldn't for the life of her explain what. In a moment she was telling him about John—of their school days and of their coming together again in the city when she was "on her own," and he, with neither fortune nor chance, began to build for his career of her hope in him and of their plans, plans that had all gone awry.

"But have they?" Eggleston interrupted. "Doesn't he figure some way in your prospects?"

Joanna considered. "Yes," she admitted. "But I don't know how—yet. I don't think I'd make him happy just yet. There's a lot for him to learn, as there is for me." Then she added brightly: "But I'll figure it all out some day. And now may I have some more of my money? I'm going to begin to spend, you know."

New Information About Long Range Cannon

German Gun Used to Bombard Paris Was Largest Ever Constructed

The secrets of the long-range German cannon that bombarded Paris from a distance of more than 60 miles, closely guarded even after the armistice was signed, have now been permitted to leak out, following the recent death of the inventor, Dr. Fritz Rausenberger of the Krupp firm.

It has been generally guessed that the guns were the longest pieces of artillery ever constructed, and new information confirms these conjectures. "The length was 36 meters, or about 128 feet."

At the range of 74 miles, the shell reached heights of over 25 miles, making more than two-thirds of its flight at elevations of over six miles, or half a mile higher than Mt. Everest. The time of flight was three minutes.

Due to great length of the gun and the very heavy powder charge, the comparatively light shell left the gun's muzzle at a velocity of more than 1,000 miles a second, with the enormous muzzle energy of 42,000 foot tons—enough to lift the whole mass of the world's largest battleship a foot into the air.

Because the shells tended to drop on their target, the city of Paris, aside from end-on as a projectile naturally does, it was necessary to provide them with two fuses to insure explosion on impact. The fuse system worked successfully. The nose of the shells that struck Paris failed to explode. Another difficulty arose due to the long, high flight of the shell; the rotation of the earth tended to deflect its path, sometimes nearly as much as half a mile.

The terrificity high pressure, temperature and friction of the discharge of the piece tended to make the barrel bulge slightly, and because of its great length the gun tended to "whip," raising the danger of premature explosion of the shell in the tube. This did happen once, ruining one of the four guns. The other three, under terms of the armistice, were dismantled and destroyed.

The designer of the battery, Dr. Fritz Rausenberger, of Essen-Baden, was a well-known authority on ballistics, and had for several years been associated with the Krupp firm.

In addition to the long-range gun, he designed the great 28-centimeter "Big Bertha," which destroyed the Belgian forts early in the war. This was a relatively short-barreled howitzer, of no great range, but of terrific smashing power, due to enormous weight of its shells and the heavy charge of high explosive they carried.

Britain Insists On Paying

Beneath Her Dignity To Ask Cancellation Of War Debts

Although it is over three years since Great Britain signed an agreement to pay her debt to the United States, the controversy as to whether it is a just debt or not is more alive than ever.

Britain will still be paying that debt when some who are infants in arms today will be grey-haired men and women.

Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer in the Labor cabinet, is one of many Britishers who hold that the proper solution of the international debt question is the mutual cancellation of debts.

Yet nowhere is the proposal to reopen the question more vehemently deprecated than in the British Parliament itself.

Thus Sir Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, speaking in the house, said: "The solution (cancellation of debts) does not commend itself. . . . Be that as it may, no British Government would think it becoming the dignity of this country or compatible with our honor to go cap-in-hand, willing to those to whom we have undertaken obligations, to be excused."

Nobly said! There is something magnificent in these words. John Bull is like a fine old gentleman who finds himself overwhelmed with debts because the people he has done good with will not, or cannot, pay him, but he says to his creditors: "Gentlemen, my family may be reduced to bread and water, but I will pay every shilling I owe you. The honor of my house demands it."

Thanks To British Fleet

Bishop of London Gave Credit Where It Was Due

The visit of the Bishop of London to Canada recalls to a Toronto soldier the story that went the rounds in London in war time. It was just after the first Americans had come over and talk of the U. S. A. "winning the war" was getting on the nerves of a good many British people. As a certain function at which many Americans were present, the story goes that the bishop was asked to say grace. It was a brief one, and as reported by a "war-lord," was:

"Bless, O Lord, the food we eat. Preserved to us by the British fleet."

Always A New Thrill

That the northern interior of Canada still offers many a thrill to the explorer is indicated by the fact that scouts from the department of the interior in their field work of last year ran across a lake 150 miles long which had never been shown on a map before. There are some vast tracts unbroken by the white man that offer their challenge to the adventurous.

The Firemen's Coffee Stall

Van Accompanies London Force To All Large Fires

In London, England, the equipment of the firemen is usually followed to a fire by a green motor van. This is the London firemen's coffee stall. It attends all fires that are likely to prove "long jobs," and does invaluable work in supplying snack meals to the men, who would otherwise be forced to spend hours without food or drink. The van holds three twenty-gallon urns, two filled with boiling water and one containing cocoa. A large cupboard on one side of the van contains numerous tins of biscuits and large mugs. The other side is on a hinge and can be supported to make a shelter for the men when they refresh themselves at the improvised counter. The cook rides inside the van and is assisted by the driver in dispensing the food. The van, which started as a horse-drawn vehicle, will shortly celebrate its twenty-fifth birthday.

Mentally Deficient In China

1,341,600 Lunatics and No Government Hospitals For Their Care

There are 1,341,600 lunatics in China, according to a compilation just made based on replies to questionnaires sent to 360 physicians. There are no government hospitals for their care and only private or mission infirmities.

The mentally deficient in China receive no money and are sure to suffer the death penalty for the commonest offense, stealing. In one case of China the mentally deficient are taken into the country and plunked beneath a heavy stone, placed on the chest. If this fails to restore sanity the victim is allowed to die of starvation.

Growth of Automobile Industry

May Be Some Time Yet Before the Saturation Point is Reached

Professor C. E. Griffin, of the Business Administration School of the University of Michigan, estimates that 27,000,000 automobiles will be in use in the United States by 1930. He is a recognized authority on the automobile industry.

"Although any ventured estimate cannot be absolutely accurate," Professor Griffin said, "it is certainly possible to say that should this be the saturation point the automobile industry would not stop. The present output of 4,000,000 cars each year would be necessary at this point merely to supply worn-out cars."

English Families Making Good Under Overseas Settlement Plan

"The great majority of English families settled on Canadian farms under the overseas settlement scheme are making good." SUMMER HEAT HARD ON BABY

No season of the year is so dangerous to the life of little ones as is the summer. The excessive heat throws the little stomach out of order so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand, the baby may be beyond all human help before the mother realizes he is ill. Summer is the season when diarrhoea, cholera infantum, dysentery and colic are most prevalent. Any of these troubles may prove deadly if not promptly treated. During the summer the mothers' best friend is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and keep baby healthy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
